JANE HOWARD IS ONLY 22. But she hasn't much longer to live. She is one of the 10,000 victims of muscular dystrophy, the mystery disease that cripples muscles. First it paralyzes. Seven per cent of the Canadian victims are children. Fire Fighters across the country are donating their time to collect funds for research to combat Muscular Dystrophy.

There are at least 10,000 victims of the disease in Canada, and more than half of these are children so that victims may adjust themselves to their progressive three and thirteen. The disease, condition, wheelchairs, hospital itself, wastes away the muscles beds for home use, braces, transportation day by day. As yet, no portation and other facilities are available in the United progress of muscular dystrophy States. More of these facilities and every single child it strikes are needed in Canada.

Large Vote Wanted

It is up to the electors now. The list of aldermanic candidates is complete, the choice is broad, and all that is needed is a good showing at the polls on December 9 to ensure that the winners truly represent the people's wish.

It is to be hoped, however, that before that time there will be an opportunity to hear the candidates present their views on the issues before us. Some are new to local politics and, in justice to them and the public, they should have a chance to give an account of themselves.

Those who have been in the running before, successfully or otherwise, also should be heard. Matters of importance change with time, so that each election should be preceded by a full airing of opinions. With vital decisions to be made in the next several months, it is no time for voting in the manner of the old girl in Norris cartoons who picks out the names with her hat-pin.

Although it is desirable in any election that all positions be contested, there can be no cause for uneasiness in the election by acclamation of those who will fill the school and parks boards seats. To the school board Dr. R. G. Large, Bruce Brown and Mrs. L. M. Greene bring experience and proven ability. Hugo Kraupner and Curly Barbour are newcomers to the parks board but not to civic affairs in general. They should prove able successors to Pat Forman and Art Murray who worked so diligently and usefully to improve the playground facilities of this city.

Whatever happens at the polls next Thursday, it is encouraging to know that Prince Rupert is not lacking in citizens who are willing to accept the responsibility—and frequently the blame as well as the credit—for administering its affairs.

State of Shock

A schoolgirl I know fell off a seesaw in Regent's park, and hurt her arm. Next morning she was still in some pain, so her mother took her around to a big London hospital, having first of all ascertained that they were prepared to deal with urgent casualties on a Sunday.

She was, she said, in some doubt as to whether she was really justified in asking them to treat her daughter as an urgent casualty, but she need not have worried. There were only two out-patients there. One was a man with corns.

The other was a man suffering from shock. He was gasping and trembling, had already fainted twice, and proclaimed that at any moment he was going to faint again. In one shaking hand he clutched a registered letter; it announced that he had won £90,000 in a football pool.

NORSTAD PLAN

ON my recent visit to the NATO headquarters in Paris I met the whole top layer of top brass. They were of several nationalities — British generals, French admirals, and staff officers from all over the map.

The one I liked best was an American — General Norstad. I liked him best for two reasons. He was the type of American that you might pick as a perfect sample of his race — tall, straight and slim but tough as a hickory stick. His Scandinavian-inherited fair hair and deep blue eyes make him look younger than his actual middle 40 age.

But I liked Norstad best because he is the kind of American who talks straight from the shoulder, so to speak. He lays everything on the line, without any beating about the bush. And he laid it on the line for me in a way that reassured my Canadian heart.

For what General Norstad told me all added up to this — that the western nations can win the great world struggle against actual or potential Russian aggression AND THEY CAN AND MUST WIN THAT STRUGGLE WITHOUT WAR.

GENERAL Norstad is convinced that if the worst does come to the worst and a third world war is forced upon us, that the forces under his command could literally destroy Russia.

But he also took for granted that I took for granted what every intelligent leader in western Europe now knows, and that is that no matter how much damage the western forces were able to do to Russia, the Russians clearly have it within their power to destroy all the capitals of western Europe if they choose to strike by air.

TIME after time General Norstad came back to his main proposition when I asked him tough questions.

One such question was this: Why should Canada send over to Europe the very pick of our air forces when everybody knows that in event of war the Russians would bomb North America? Why not reinforce our own defence forces all across our own north?

His answer was clear as crystal — because if you did that you would be "writing off" western Europe in advance; and above all, you would be accepting the suicidal idea that a third world war is inevitable.

Both these propositions are wrong — says Norstad. A third world war is not inevitable; and the best way to help to keep it from happening is to strengthen and stabilize the defence of western Europe so that Russia would end all threat of aggression there.

IT IS unfortunately true that not all Americans in high places have the same same outlook on the world situation as have the top commanders at N.A.T.O.

Senator Knowland and Admiral Radford favour a get-tough-with-China policy which is poles apart from the principles held by Generals Grether and Norstad.

Senator Knowland is a man who clearly sees one all important truth. As he says, all Europe is already in a state of what you might call military paralysis. When it comes to a showdown no government in Britain, France — or Russia — is going to make any move which it knows will bring on general war. For in such a general war, both sides could destroy all the key centres of the other side.

Senator Knowland clearly sees that what is true of Europe today will also be true of the United States tomorrow.

Surely common sense says — accept those realities now.

In the long run, the only choice is co-existence or co-destruction. We must live or die, together.

LOTS OF FUN PRETENDING

The Editor.

The Daily News.

I have just sent the following letter to Dr. Signori, UBC, and I feel it would do more good if you publish it in your "Letter Box."

"Dear Dr. Signori:

"Of course there is a Santa Claus: Any store will show you a picture of him, ranging from six inches to four feet or more, not to mention all the ornaments and toys depicting him.

"When my children see him, they squeal with delight. They are certainly looking forward to their Christmas stockings and all that Christmas represents.

"But my children also know that Santa Claus is only a pretend St. Nicholas. They know of the good work of St. Nicholas and they are sorry he is dead, but it doesn't matter because we can pretend Santa Claus is St. Nicholas and we can have lots of fun."

"They even understand that some children think Santa is 'really real' so they pretend for their sake that he is.

"They also know that Santa doesn't come from the 'Northland,' Santa is someone's Daddy dressed up in a red suit with a big white beard. And they just love him. At the same time they do not live a lie."

"Don't you think it takes a stronger imagination to pretend something is real, than to accept a falsehood as truth?"

"Of course, there is the story of Jesus Christ's birthday. Fortunately, its truth is never changed."

A CONTENTED MOTHER,

Prince Rupert.

ABUSED ON TELEPHONE

The Editor.

The Daily News.

I would like to bring to you and the public's attention, an incident which occurred last evening on the telephone. It involves myself, the party calling me and a third person who is unfortunately unknown.

On answering my phone and saying about half a dozen words to the person calling me, we heard the third party come on the line. He immediately launched into a tirade of curses, and vilification directed, out of a clear-blue sky, to an attempt to drive me off the line. Why he did it remains a mystery.

If the party had required the line for an emergency call, I would have gladly stepped aside and let him proceed.

As we are all well aware, the use of obscene, profane and abusive language on the telephone results in forfeiture of the telephone. It appeared to us that the person involved has a tongue not unlike a cesspool with a mentality to match. A strong complaint has been lodged with the proper authorities that if he continues to act that way on the phone it is only a matter of time until he does once too often.

LATE NEWSPAPERS

The Editor.

The Daily News.

I am prompted to write this letter, because I have answered the telephone five times in the last 45 minutes. Each time there was an enquiry for the "Paper Boy," and each person wishing to know why he was late with the paper.

Until a few months ago, I too was very critical of the "Paper Boy," and was sceptical of his answers, which I felt to be excuses to cover his own tardiness.

Now, my two elder boys have each got "Daily News" routes, and they explain that they receive the papers as they come from the presses, but that the boys receive their papers in a definite order. Each day, every boy moves back one place in that order until he reaches the end of the line; then the next day he starts again at the beginning.

Also, it is obvious that the "Daily News," in order to give the best service to its customers, does not go to press any sooner than is necessary. Therefore, any slight mechanical breakdown, and these happen to the best of plants—will delay the paper boy still more.

For example, this evening one of my boys left home at 3:45, the other at 4:15, so that they would arrive at the Daily News office at 4:00 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. respectively.

Before they left home, we asked them to hurry home as my wife and I wished to go out before 7:00 p.m. and the older boys would have to babysit with their younger brother.

At ten minutes past six, the oldest boy phoned home to say that both of them were still waiting for the papers at the Daily News office.

Within minutes I received the first complaint from a customer, and I am quite sure from the tone of his voice that he was suspicious, to say the least, of the veracity of my explanation.

I feel, therefore, that if you will publish this letter and verify that what I say is correct, it will help to improve relations between us.

The telephone. It appeared to us that the person involved has a tongue not unlike a cesspool with a mentality to match. A strong complaint has been lodged with the proper authorities that if he continues to act that way on the phone it is only a matter of time until he does once too often.

Auxiliary Gives Honorary Post To Mrs. Black

The Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Company Ltd., here, as an executive assistant to the general manager.

When the company was taken over by B.C. Packers Limited in 1945, he was appointed resident manager in charge of plant and Alaskan operations. He resigned from this post Wednesday to take a position with the Booth Fisheries Corp., of Chicago, Ill., as assistant manager of the West Coast operations in Seattle.

While in Prince Rupert, Mr. Gilker was president of both the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce, president of Booth Memorial High School P-TA, one of the members who organized the PT council of which he was president for two years, president of the Citizenship Council, a director of the Prince Rupert Club and has been active in various committees attached to the Prince Rupert Civic Centre. He was also an active member of the First Baptist Church.

Large Crowd Attends Tea, And Bazaar

Despite the wind and rain yesterday afternoon a large crowd attended the successful pre-

Christmas tea and bazaar, staged by the First United Church

Women's Auxiliary in the church hall.

The hall, gaily decked with cedar boughs and silver ornaments presented a cheerful scene.

Mrs. Art Nickerson, president of the Auxiliary, gave the welcoming address while the pastor's wife, Mrs. L. G. Sieber, received the guests.

Mrs. Nickerson and Mrs. L. M. Greene were in charge of the popcorn stand and the fish pond was attended by Mrs. A. Oswald.

Mrs. G. Ciccone was in charge of novelties; Mrs. D. Santurbane and Mrs. E. Pedersen, fancy work; Mrs. R. Pollock, Mrs. H. Ferley and Mrs. C. T. Young, aprons.

Mrs. O. Green convened the home cooking assisted by Mrs. R. B. Skinner, Mrs. E. Pierce and Mrs. A. J. Dominab. Mrs. D. Owens and Mrs. W. Davidson sold plants and Miss Joyce Facey sold C.G.I.T. candy.

The tea table was covered with a white linen tablecloth, edged with lace and centred with yellow chrysanthemums contained in a becoming brass bowl.

Mrs. Don Ritchie was in charge of the kitchen and assisted by Mrs. Art Jones, Mrs. A. Carlson, Mrs. Boychuk and Mrs. Andy Thompson.

Mrs. J. Marchant, Mrs. Arthur Kemp, Mrs. Ray Lewis and Mrs. Bob McBride served refreshments.

Mrs. Alice McComb was the cashier and also sold Christmas cards.

Kristmanson Leads Booth Win Over Ketchikan High School

Sparked by Freddy Kristmanson who racked up a total of 17 points, Booth Memorial High School Rainmakers last night chalked up a 35-26 victory over the Ketchikan High School Polar Bears.

The hard-fought game played before a fair-sized crowd in the Civic Centre gym, was tied up twice and saw Ketchikan in the lead only once.

The meeting of the two high school squads was the first game in the annual international four-game series, which will be continued tonight with the second and last of the Rupert home games. The Polar Bears will host the Rainmakers for two games late in the year or early next year.

SHOOTING FINISH

Finish around the basket paid off for the Rainmakers as, led by Kristmanson, they sank 13 field goals to Ketchikan's 8. The two teams were not far apart on free shots with the Rainmakers making good 9 in 20 tries and the Polar Bears sinking 10 out of 18.

Despite criticism of referee Doug Sankey's calls, Rainmakers only collected two less fouls than the visitors' total of 13.

Art Helm opening the scoring for the home town squad only to have the Polar Bear's vociferous J. Auger tie it up with two free shots 12 seconds later. Auger with another free shot and Walters with a basket put Ketchikan in the lead for the first and last time. Greig Forbes and Kristmanson combined to give the Rainmakers a 10-7 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Walters again tied the score for the Bears at the 3:31 minute mark of the second quarter but a dream hook shot by John Newton put Rainmakers back in the lead.

The Bo-Me-Hi squad led 22-16 at the half and 28-22 at the close of the third quarter. Baskets by Helm, Forbes and Kristmanson plus a free shot gave the Rainmakers the win as Ketchikan was held down to 4 points in the final stanza.

Coaches Don Hartwig of the Rainmakers and Bill Martineson of the Bears each collected tech-nicals for their squads, both of which were sunk.

Besides Kristmanson, Forbes and Terry Shenton contributed 8 points each to the Booth total.

Top man for Kay-Hi was B. Vincent with 17 followed by Tucker and Auger with 6 points each.

During the game Bo-Me-Hi cheer section led by Ken McKinnon and featuring Libby Pierce, Anna Carlson, Jean Smithwaite and Sue Martin kept the high school rooters on their toes.

In a closely-contested Intermediate B game, North Star led all the way to down a fighting Sunrise squad 35-29. Bob Sankey with 14 points was top scorer for the Bottlers and J. McLean chalked up 9 points to lead the grocers. North Star took the game 8-6; 22-16; 28-22 in the first three quarters and outscored Sunrise 9-4 in the last frame.

Lineups:

High School Series
Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers — Helm 2, Forbes 6, Newton 2, Shenton 6, Kristmanson 17, Black, Anderson, Turcotte, Stewart, Young, Lusk, Morrison 2, Total 35.

Monopoly on High Scorers Help Canadiens Keep Lead

By The Canadian Press

It takes only a glance at the scoring statistics to figure out why Montreal Canadiens are running at the top of the National Hockey League race this season with power to spare.

Bernie Geoffrion, Maurice Richard, Jean Beliveau and Kenny Mosdell are just four reasons. There are others, like Jackie Leclair, Bert Olmstead, Calum MacKay, and Doug Harvey.

They all rank among the top scorers in the 1954-55 campaign, Geoffrion, heading for his greatest year since hitting the NHL in 1950, Richard, Beliveau and MacKay, and Doug Harvey.

In the only other game, Boston Bruins scored twice in the last period to edge the last-place

Black Hawks 3-2 before 4,113 fans at Chicago. Bruins, with seven victories in 22 engagements, are in fifth spot, eight points ahead of Chicago.

The Montreal-Detroit game was the big one. Richard fired the 398th goal of his 12-season career and with two more he will become the first player in the big league to achieve the 400-goal mark.

EDMONTON — Edmonton Flyers are sole owners of first place in the Western Hockey League after defeating the flagging Vancouver Canucks 3-2 Thursday.

The victory broke the tie with Calgary, now two points behind. New Westminster, with two games on tap in the next two days, is also a contender.

Tonight, the Royals go at Victoria, and Vancouver meets Saskatoon in the Quaker arena.

The Edmonton scorers Thursday were Enio Sestischi, Ray Hannigan and Ed Zenith. Lou Fontinato and Doug Adam counted for Canucks.

EDMONTON TIES SCORES

Edmonton trailed 1-0 going into the third period, but Sestischi connected at 8:12 on a pass from Bud Poile and Larry Zelde to tie it up.

Hannigan caught the fever at 11:05, and with help from Norm Ullman put Edmonton in the lead.

Third assault on Bev Bentley's net at 13:05 was the product of teamwork between Zenith and Sestischi.

Adam made the final attempt to get back in contention with only six seconds to go before the final buzzer, following a scramble in front of the Edmonton net.

Flyers outshot Vancouver 31-22.

Bums Set To Sell Billy Cox

By JOE REICHLER

HOUSTON (AP)—Omaha, Neb., was expected to become a member of the American Association today as the minor league convention comes to a close.

Another development will be the naming of the five-man arbitration board by minor league president George Trautman to settle damages due the Western League for draft of its Denver territory.

On the player end, the Associated Press learned that the Brooklyn Dodgers are set to sell veteran third baseman Billy Cox for $50,000 to one of two American League clubs—Baltimore or Cleveland. E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodger vice president, also has asked for a couple of minor league farmhands.

CANT GET WAIVERS

The inter-league transaction, in all likelihood, will be consummated at the major league meetings in New York next week. The only current hitch is Brooklyn's inability to get waivers on Cox. It is believed, however, that because of the fancy figure, the Dodgers will receive "gentleman waivers" on the player.

The Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds also were getting closer to completing a player trade that would involve outfielder Jimmy Greengrass or Wally Post and catcher E. C. Bailey of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and a second line pitcher from the Dodgers.

Only a matter of $25,000 stood between the Western League and the St. Louis Cardinals from concluding a pact that would transfer the Redbirds' Columbus American Association franchise to Omaha.

In a secret meeting with St. Louis Thursday, the Western League reduced its demand for damages on the release of Omaha from $100,000 to $60,000. The Cards countered with an offer of $35,000.

CLARION CALL

VANCOUVER (CP)—The steel bell from a dismantled steam locomotive is used by Rev. Dudley S. Bowden to summon his scattered flock to religious services. He is a missionary at Turnour Island.

His thoughts went back to the second trick. Mr. Champion was known to have held the ace, jack and ten of diamonds at that time. Why had he chosen to return the ten—the lowest diamond he had which would cover dummy's nine?

Apparently he was trying to show that he would welcome a lead in the lowest ranking suit outside of trumps. And that would mean clubs. If he had wanted a heart lead from Mr. Masters he would have led the ace of diamonds at trick two.

So Mr. Masters led a club. Mr. Champion won with the ace and laid down the ace of diamonds. Mr. Muzzy was now helpless. He trumped with the queen of spades—but then he had only one trump higher than Mr. Masters' nine, which was guarded by the lowly but important deuce.

Newspapers Criticize Hoad For Actions During Tourney

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—Lewis Hoad, once Australia's tennis hero, was criticized in Melbourne newspapers today as an "irritating and half-hearted" player whose career has been irreparably damaged by an "outrageous performance" in the Victoria championships.

Alan Trengove in The Daily Argus said "Hoad can give up any hope of turning professional in the near future."

Frank Bird in The Sun said Hoad, in losing to America's Vic Seixas, gave the "worst demonstration of bad court manners since Art Larsen was here four years ago." Seixas beat Hoad in straight sets in the semi-finals Thursday.

SPECTATORS LEAVE COURT

Bird added that hundreds of spectators left the court when Hoad smashed a ball into the backstop and another high into the grandstand.

In a special press interview, Hoad explained the reason for his tantrums with: "I am sick of everyone getting on my back."

Asked why he hit the ball into

Lowly Deuce Upsets Sure-Thing Contract

"This is impossible," said Mr. Muzzy after he went down one on today's hand. Count your tricks again. There was no way to set me on this deal. Somebody must have revoked."

But nobody had revoked. It was simply a matter of fine, well-timed defense.

Looking at Mr. Muzzy's hand and the dummy, it is hard to see how more than three tricks can be lost at a spade contract. Apparently the defenders can take just one spade, one diamond and one club.

Actually Mr. Masters was able to win two tricks in spades. Do you see how?

This is the way the play developed. The opening lead was the queen of diamonds. Mr. Champion overtook with the king and returned the ten. The selection of the ten spot was significant. It bore a special message for Mr. Masters and of course he recognized it.

Mr. Muzzy ruffed the second diamond lead with the ten of spades. Here Mr. Masters made a good play. He discarded a small club instead of overruffing with the ace.

Mr. Muzzy then led the king of trumps and Mrs. Masters won with the ace. What should he return at this point, a heart or a club?

His thoughts went back to the second trick. Mr. Champion was known to have held the ace, jack and ten of diamonds at that time. Why had he chosen to return the ten—the lowest diamond he had which would cover dummy's nine?

Apparently he was trying to show that he would welcome a lead in the lowest ranking suit outside of trumps. And that would mean clubs. If he had wanted a heart lead from Mr. Masters he would have led the ace of diamonds at trick two.
