All a three-month-old kitten, proves that a cat can look at a queen — a jungle queen, especially if the beast is safely behind a good strong fence. Things weren't always this way. Snowball spent some nervous moments inside the cage recently, leaning off Mimi, alone, with arched back, profuse spit (ing), and extended claws until a keeper came to the den. At the time was a lion called Nubia which took no note of Snowball, to prove that business about the female of the species being more deadly than the male.

Seamen Ask Quashing Court Injunction

VANCOUVER (CP) — Striking seamen will ask the court to set aside a supreme court injunction preventing them from interfering with loading of "hot" cargo on a coastal steamer.

"We got the injunction," said Norman Cunningham, business agent of the International Union of Seafarers, Ltd., moved into its fifth day today.

Mr. Cunningham said the SIU was preparing a brief for presentation to the court giving the true facts of the situation.

The injunction, first court test since the strike started at noon Sunday to back up union demands for a wage increase of 12½ per cent and a boost of 33 cents an hour in overtime rates, restraining the SIU from interfering with the loading of metal cylinders destined for a pulp plant.

The cargo was originally scheduled to be shipped by Union Steamships, but was switched to the adjacent Coastwise Pier Ltd.

"We want no contempt of court charges," said Mr. Cunningham. "If the court says we don't interfere, we don't. But we're pretty sure that injunction will be lifted."

The SIU official said new contracts had not yet been signed between the union and Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Steamships.

"We could legally strike those companies now," he said, but gave a terse "no comment" when asked if such action was contemplated.

Meanwhile, upcoast communities continued to receive supplies of perishable foodstuffs and other necessities by air. SIU officials said they would not interfere with the airlift of essential supplies.

Airlines also reported heavy passenger bookings as a result of the strike which has tied up Union Steamships' six passenger steamers and seven freighters.

Mrs. Smith served in the B.C. legislature as Liberal member for Vancouver-Burrard from 1933 to 1941, during which time she was instrumental in pushing through a legislation providing a monthly allowance for widowed mothers and those whose husbands have been disabled or have deserted them.

Vendor Sent To Jail In Faked 'Safecracking'

Special to The Daily News

SMITHERS — A 42-year-old liquor vendor was sentenced to two terms of six months in jail after he had confessed to staging the July 1 weekend robbery of the government liquor store in which $2,000 in cash was supposed to have been looted from the store safe by safecrackers.

Pleading guilty yesterday to a charge of theft of more than $50 and also to a second charge of creating a public mischief was George Herman Kidd, a married man with two children. The case was solved in less than 24 hours by members of the Smithers RCMP detachment aided by two officers of the Prince Rupert RCMP substation who came to Smithers to conduct an investigation into the safecracking.

Under questioning by the police, Kidd admitted faking the entry into the building and the safe cracking when confronted by the facts disclosed by the investigation.

He was arrested Tuesday and charged with the theft and also with creating a public mischief.

SENTENCES CONCURRENT

The liquor vendor elected trial by Stipendiary Magistrate William Yorke-Hardy when he appeared in court yesterday. He was sentenced to six months imprisonment on both counts sentences to run concurrently.

He said that the meeting tonight will decide whether or not the baseball league, which got off to such an enthusiastic start three years ago, will continue. Poor attendance and lack of volunteers to keep the league operating were threatening the future of the league, he said.

The report of the alleged safecracking was made to police by Kidd. A window was found broken and a bar removed to simulate entry of the building located on Smithers main street. The dial was knocked off the safe and the inside of the safe door damaged in an attempt to open it.

Following a strong plea for clemency the court recommended psychiatric examination following consideration of the circumstances.

The spokesman said most of the passengers on the Mexico to Lima flight "naturally speak Spanish and it isn't much use having a stewardess who doesn't speak the language."

A CPA spokesman said Wednesday night employment of foreign nationals was not discrimination against Canadians, but simply a matter of trying to give good service to customers.

Villages Safe From Big Fire

SEPT ISLES, Que. (CP) — Three communities menaced by forest fires in this heavily-wooded area 350 miles northeast of Quebec City have been declared safe.

The cargo was originally scheduled to be shipped by Union Steamships, but was switched to the adjacent Coastwise Pier Ltd.

"We want no contempt of court charges," said Mr. Cunningham. "If the court says we don't interfere, we don't. But we're pretty sure that injunction will be lifted."

British Sergeant To Hang For "Commando Blow" Killing

DUSSELDORF, West Germany (Reuters) — Sgt. Frederick Emmett-Dunn of the British Army today was found guilty of the murder of a fellow soldier whose widow he married and was sentenced to be hanged.

The six-foot, two-inch sergeant listened with his head up and his broad shoulders squared as he was pronounced guilty of the "commando blow" killing of Sgt. Reginald Watters.

Emmett-Dunn had told his widow Mla he had killed Watters, whose widow Mla he had married seven months later, in self-defence. He claimed he was threatened with a pistol and accused of seducing the other sergeant's German wife, a former club singer.

He and his half-brother subsequently stashed up the body in a barracks near here to simulate suicide.

Not until after the body was exhumed this year were murder charges brought against Emmett-Dunn. The case was

Millworkers Back on Job

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — A wildcat strike over the east end of board at Eagle Lake Sawmills here was ended Monday with 130 men back at work.

The men walked out last Tuesday to demonstrate their objection to the closing of the company cookhouse. The cookhouse was closed last year and since then the men have had to buy their own meals which they say costs more than the amount stipulated in their contract.

Negotiations are under way between union and management to have meals supplied at the agreed rate.

Special to The Daily News

In his summing up today, Judge Advocate Charles Cain threw doubt in the defendant's not guilty plea. He said he could see no evidence that could lead to a manslaughter verdict. It was clear, he said, that Emmett-Dunn killed Watters, that he had been in love with Watters' wife and that they had held secret trysts.

Regarding the defendant's claim that he had struck Watters' throat in a commando death-blow in self-defense, the Judge Advocate said Emmett-Dunn had "never told anybody, certainly not anybody in authority, that he had been attacked or that he had killed Watters."

Canadian CPA Stewardesses File Protest

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian stewardesses employed by Canadian Pacific Airlines told a federal industrial relations board here Wednesday that their jobs are being taken over by "foreign nationals" on the company's overseas flights.

A brief presented to the board said 28 per cent of the company's flight attendants on overseas flights were non-Canadians. The stewardesses also said the company had indicated it wants to employ more.

The stewardesses said they were told the company was hiring Mexican, Australian and Chinese girls and "now Dutchmen" because the Canadian girls were "not as efficient."

Face Prison Term

VIENNA (AP)—Noisy drunks in Communist Hungary face prison terms of one year under a government decree which went into force July 1, Hungarian newspapers report.

Finally, between 3:35 and 3:40 a.m., the radio voice came through once more and, in extreme agitation, reported:

"A submarine is surfacing about 350 yards from us. It is coming alongside. It is proceeding to take survivors aboard. It is not an American submarine."

Following this were these last words:

"I don't think they'll let me talk any more."

The Conquistador sent four ships and two planes racing to the location given by the Blue Star.

But the searchers found nothing except an unmarked life jacket.

News of a great many of the Prince Rupert All-Star team after they returned from their international series with Kelowna All-Stars Sunday and Monday has caused cancellation of tonight's scheduled game between Commercial Hotel and Gordon and Anderson, a Prince Rupert Senior District baseball association spokesman said today. He added that it was impossible for either manager Rudy Ford of C & A or Mervin Simundsen of Commercial to field a team since many of their key players had been laid low with stomach ailment.

Show We Can Do It

IT WAS a wise move on the part of British Columbia civil defence headquarters and the subsidiary organizations here in Prince Rupert and at Ketchikan, Alaska, to "plan" a natural phenomena such as an "earthquake" for the first big test of emergency facilities in the face of disaster. For years now Civil Defence officials have been trying to instill interest in civil defence into the public's mind, with little or no success. The magnitude of nuclear war devastation has made the effective functioning of civil defence almost superfluous. On top of that the likelihood of Prince Rupert or Ketchikan being the target for atomic or hydrogen bombs is somewhat far-fetched.

An earthquake or similar disaster, however, is quite within the realm of possibility. In August, 1949 when an earthquake actually occurred in British Columbia and Alaska, it was felt more in Ketchikan than it was in Prince Rupert.

The plans of Prince Rupert and Ketchikan civil defence officials for "Exercise Earthquake" on July 21, are along the same lines. Ketchikan is to "be laid flat" by a quake and this city is to be the reception centre for the "injured and homeless."

Only with the full co-operation of the public can the forthcoming exercise be made a success. This is not a project for top officials alone. The civil defence planners want the public to take full advantage of learning the valuable lessons available from the exercise, in case such a disaster should actually occur.

Preliminary survey of reaction from the public is favorable, but something more than mere willingness or assent is needed. At least 200 volunteers to take the roles of Alaskan evacuees will be sought and in this way the transportation facilities can be put to the test and local officials will know how their equipment here will stand up to such an emergency.

Recent civil defence exercises both in Canada and the United States have shown that even major cities can be caught unprepared and that "bombs" have been dropped and thousands "killed and wounded" without civil defence organizations being aware of it. This international exercise July 21, is not merely a small local affair. It was originally planned in Victoria and has the full backing of Alaska Territorial officials and the British Columbia government. The eyes of the world will be on Ketchikan and Prince Rupert when "Exercise Earthquake" is staged and the national wire services will be carrying the results of the test.

It is up to Prince Rupert residents to get into the spirit of the exercise to show that should a disaster strike, we will not be caught napping and that we can hold our own in coping with an emergency caused by nature's fury.

BRIDGE, TRACK WORK TO KEEP PGE LINE OUT FOR WEEK YET

VANCOUVER, July 10 -- The Pacific Great Eastern Railway, blocked out by washouts between Williams Lake and Quesnel, won't be re-opened for at least another week.

B. F. P. Bowman, general manager, said today more than 100 men are making repair to bridges and track washed away after rainstorms early last week.

Trains will start running between Vancouver and Quesnel by next Tuesday. Mr. Bowman said, but there is no indication when the line will be opened into Prince George.

FANCY OFFICE DESKS

Imagine yourself seated at a "electronic" desk that features a panel of push buttons that can open office doors, turn on the light, start a tape recorder working or switch on a television set on the opposite wall.

Or visualize yourself seated at a table-like desk creation with a top of cloudy tan Italian marble, shaped something like a four-foot-long dragonfly wing and supported by six copper brass legs attached to a lacquered frame around the edges.

Far from imaginary, the "electronic" desk was designed for a customer. The marble-top table in the flesh new office of oil tycoon D. D. Fieldman in Dallas.

They are among the more striking developments in the office furniture industry, long ago marked by conservatism and slow-changing style. And a boom for itself largely out of new work quarter fashion designed to wow the customer and boost employee morale.

Some customers' tastes run to flashy colors. A Los Angeles firm recently started a major producer, by ordering 300 desk specially finished in fire engine red. Another special order called for a pinkish hue. Wall Street Journal.

COSTLY NEGLIGENCE

Late spring and early summer are the period of the year when the forests are most threatened by fire. Between the time when the snow disappears and new growth is well under way, the woods are in a most dangerous condition when as happens too often, prolonged dry spells occur. It is then that the woods, as we in New Brunswick should know from past disastrous experiences, are most easily set ablaze.

It is ironic that man's negligence is responsible for the great majority of such outbreaks. Lightning is the cause of only an extreme few. No more deplorable waste of natural resources occurs than that caused by forest fires. And there would be fewer of them if everyone realized that his carelessness works damage to one of the country's most vital industries -- forestry.

NOT OLD FASHIONED

Backing up his flat statement that "students today do not know how to spell," Dean Thomas C. Pollack of New York University says that a great measure of blame must be borne by teachers, "most of whom don't care whether their pupils spell correctly or not." Aiding the indifferent teachers, Dr. Pollack believes, are the newer teaching practices.

While he does not advocate going back to the old spelling drills and spelling bees of the early part of the century, he thinks that such exercises have a place in the school system. But the first thing necessary, he maintains, is to get rid of the idea, now commonly held that "the teaching of spelling is old-fashioned."

FRENCH BY EAR

Teaching French by ear is to be tried out extensively in Ottawa schools. That should not be as difficult as it seems because, after all, we learn to speak English before we can read or write, just picking up the language from our parents and speaking good or bad English, according to their mode of conversation.

BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mrs. Keen is Not to Be Stampeded

Mr. Champion did everything he could to encourage Mrs. Keen to go wrong on the defence in today's deal, but she was not to be stampeded into making the wrong play.

She opened her fourth best spade, the four, and Mr. Dale won with the king and returned the eight. Mr. Champion played the six on the first trick and went up with his queen at trick two. He had cased the adverse spade situation correctly.

He wanted Mrs. Keen to win the second spade and continue the suit. If she did so, that would strip Mr. Dale's hand of spades.

DIAMONDS KEY
The hand could not be made without bringing in dummy's diamond suit, and if the diamond finesse lost to Mr. Dale, he would have no more spades to lead.

Mrs. Keen paused before playing the second trick. She knows the convention relating to returning a suit partner has opened. If Mr. Dale held four or more spades, he would return his fourth highest. If he held three, he would return his next highest, just under the king.

If Mr. Champion had started with a Q 6 doubleton, then Mr. Dale had started with K 10 8 7. From that combination he would have returned his fourth highest, the seven spot.

Mr. Keen knew that some kind of funny business was going on. She, too, cased the spade set-up correctly.

Oldtimers Give Orioles Drive To Beat Yankees

By The Associated Press

Manager Paul Richards may have a sound idea for the future Baltimore, but when it comes to winning here and now it's the old guys who get the job done right.

With a flock of recently-signed bonus youngsters on the roster, it was veterans like Jim Wilson, 33, Dave Philley, 35, Hoyt

Evers, 34, Freddy Marsh, 31, Chuck Diering, 32 and Hank Majeski, 38, who were in the lineup as the Orioles pasted New York Yankees 4-0 Wednesday night.

The victory didn't mean too much to Baltimore, down in the basement 27½ games out of first, but it pained the Yanks' American League lead to 4½ games over Cleveland Indians, who beat Kansas City Athletics 3-4.

Wilson was the crafty "old-timer" who sent New York to its fourth straight defeat. The big right-hander, in his ninth big league season, gave the Yanks just four hits and didn't let a runner get past first base, winning his sixth against eight defeats.

It was Wilson, too, who lined a two-run single as the Orioles scored all their runs in the fourth inning off Whitey Ford, who like Wilson is on the All-Star pitching staff. It was Ford's fourth defeat.

SOX KEEP ROLLING

While Cleveland closed in on the Yanks, Boston Red Sox moved up on the third-place Chicago White Sox, beating Washington Senators 7-5 after Detroit Tigers had knocked off the White Sox 5-3. That left Boston 11½ games behind Chicago.

In the National, Brooklyn Dodgers split with Pittsburgh Pirates, winning 10-5 and losing 4-1 in a twi-nighter; Milwaukee Braves snared Chicago Cubs 5-1; New York Giants beat Philadelphia Phillies 4-2, and St. Louis Cardinals defeated Cincinnati Reds 6-4.

Welshman, Scot Leading In St. Andrew's Tourney

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — D. F. Simaldon, a deliberate Welshman, and Eric Brown, a steady Scot, posted 130 totals in taking the early lead in the British open golf championship.

One stroke behind them came of England. Jowle also had a 71

Englishman Johnny Fallon, who today equalized the St. Andrews Old Course record with a second round 67.

Fallon had a brilliant round of 36 over the long, par 36-36-72 on posted a 70 to give him a total of another bright, summery day. He had a 15-foot putt for a record on the last green but couldn't make it. He missed by three inches.

Simaldon added a 69 today to his first round 70. He went out in 36 and came back in a well-played 33. On the 18th hole, Simaldon hit a good approach shot to within six feet of the flag
