W.A.C. BENNETT smiles broadly as he fires the opening gun in the 1955 B.C. Polio fund drive. At his side is Adrian Gilmore who is assisting in the current campaign to raise $300,000.

that the objective in the Prince Rupert area will be $3,000.

Premier Urges Community Support of B.C. Wide Polio Fund Campaign

Kinsmen-sponsored B.C. Polio Fund faces bigger job than ever before, Premier W.A.C. Bennett said in launching the 1955 campaign to $300,000.

The Premier said that "here in British Columbia we place strong emphasis on the health and well-being of our people."

our government provides protection for those in need of hospital care and works closely with the various government agencies in the Kinsmen-sponsoring B.C. Polio Fund," said the cost of fighting a major attack of polio is far beyond the average family's means.

winner."

takes the teamwork of many winners to fight the disease," Mr. Bennett said. "This problem of teamwork, a time and good neighbors to give a hand."

Besides providing direct financial help when it is needed, in stricken homes, the fund contributes magnificently towards the purchase of iron lungs, respirators, physiotherapy apparatus for polio hospital wards for rehabilitation centres. If the new Salk polio vaccine becomes effective," the premier said, "and we are convinced it will be effective," administration can be provided to every child and adult B.C. would cost well over $1,000,000."

Premier Bennett said in his bi-weekly press conference Monday the Williston Formula cannot be presented until after the budget is brought down.

French Forced To Flee Before Flooding Rhone

PARIS (Reuters) — Hundreds of refugees, clutching odd assortments of belongings, today were seen from their flooded homes leaving by rowboats and launches and on French pensants and carried to shelter.

Rain continued to swell flooding rivers throughout France.

Greece and Britain.

In one suburb of Lyon, 180 persons fled from their homes and were evacuated when a dike holding back the Rhone river crumbled this morning. In Paris, the Seine continued to rise and now expected today to overflow thoroughly dammed Parc des Buttes Chaumont.

"I believe every union has a right to express its own political opinions," Murphy said. "My policies have always been open and on view to the public."

The Mine-Mill has been ordered by the IBEW to vacate its offices in Montreal Hall here.

RHINE STILL RISING Reinforcements of West German frontier police this morning joined flood fighters who have piled barrows of sandbags in front of the federal parliament building at Bonn as the Rhine river, rising steadily during the night, was 10 inches above Monday's mark and still rising.

All along the Rhine, roads were under several feet of water and motorists had to make detours up to 20 miles to get to work.

About 300 persons were evacuated at Spoyen, near Heidelberg, when a dam was reported near collapse.

In the British Isles, severe wintry conditions continued. Helicopters flew continuously to carry food, water and other supplies to hamlets in northern Scotland cut off by snow for nearly a week. Northern Ireland Monday night had its worst snowstorms in years, and traffic in Belfast was almost at a standstill today.

After today they will not be immune from prosecution, he warned. The Kilkenny had gathered in the provincial town of Kilkenny for a harp, or tribal

Amendments To WCA Under Study

All Fishermen May Be Included

VANCOUVER (CP) — It was reported here Monday that the Bennett government has under consideration amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act for extending coverage to thousands of British Columbia fishermen.

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks is reported to have discussed the amendments with B.C. fishing firms and the representatives of the 9,000-member United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.).

The union has pressed for amendments which would bring all fishermen under the act, with compensation paid by the fishing companies. Some fishermen now are covered, but thousands of others have no coverage.

New Date Set For Completion Of Rail Link

OTTAWA (CP) — The CNR in a return tabled in the Commons Monday said the date for completion of a 48-mile line from Terrace to Kitimat, B.C., has been extended to Dec. 31, 1955. Originally the target date was Nov. 1 last. About 41 miles of line, being built at a cost of $11,500,000, now have been finished.

Mixed service between the two towns was opened Friday when the initial train over the new line, carried CN and other officials from Terrace to Kitimat and back. Trains now travel only as far as the service center at the aluminum smelter town, some two and a half miles from the smaller site.

We know that leftist elements have attempted to control the thought and action of our union," Waplington said.

Almost simultaneously with the IBEW developments, another British Columbia labor union leader declared he is a Communist "and I don't care who knows it."

Harvey Murphy, the regional director of the 10,000-member International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), made the statement to a reporter at the opening of his convention here.

Mine-Mill was expelled from the Canadian Congress of Labor and the American CIO in 1949 for alleged "Communist domination."

"I believe every union has a right to express its own political opinions," Murphy said. "My policies have always been open and on view to the public."

The Mine-Mill has been ordered by the IBEW to vacate its offices in Montreal Hall here.

RUBICON CATCH UP with the getaway car used by three men who held up a Burnsby branch of the Royal Bank last week. The car, (left) crashed into a ditch and the trio fled into the bush, but were captured after one of the bandits was wounded. Two of the men, Alan Babcock and John Borlakoff, have pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with violence. The wounded bandit, John Whalen, was sentenced yesterday to four years in prison.

Wicks Says Province Only Gets 5 Per Cent

VANCOUVER (CP) — Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said Monday night in a radio address unemployment in the province might disappear if the federal government would give B.C. a fair share of defence contracts.

Mr. Wicks said B.C. contributes more than nine per cent of the total income tax paid to Ottawa but receives less than five per cent of defence contracts.

During the last year, he said contracts totalling more than $300,000,000 were bid by Ottawa and approximately $16,000,000 went to B.C.

Let British Columbia receive its fair share twice the present amount — then unemployment here might well disappear.

Mr. Wicks said Premier Bennett unsuccessfully urged Prime Minister St. Laurent last July to convene a Dominion-Provincial conference to consider unemployment.

"Apparently the Ottawa government, while recognizing the problem of unemployment to the extent of increasing supplementary benefits on unemployment insurance, is not prepared to accept the fundamental significance of undistributed goods and services."

This problem may be expected to become more acute as the months go by.

An estimated 40,000 persons are out of work in B.C.

On the other hand, the minister said, the Social Credit government here has made the most of its restricted authority to ease the situation.

He referred to increased public works, construction of schools, hospitals, bridges, the extension of the P.D.T. and the government's donation of 50 per cent of roller and welfare activities undertaken by municipalities.

Freighter Set To Make Calls Although Towed

The Union Steamship coastal freighter "Chilliwack" will continue to make its calls even though disabled, Les Smith, Union Steamship general agent here said today.

The Chilliwack arrived at the CNR dock under tow by the Strata Towing tug Charlotte Strait after being picked up in Queen Charlotte Strait. The Chilliwack lost two blades of its propeller after striking a sunken object.

An Armour Salvage Ltd. diver Ray Montgomery went down today to assess the amount of damage done to the freighter's propeller.

The Chilliwack, scheduled to make calls at Watson Island, Kitimat, Ocean Falls and Powell River, will discharge its cargo although towed all the way back to Vancouver by the Strata Towing vessel.

WEATHER

An active trough of low pressure along the coast of Washington and Oregon today is sending surges of moist air over southern B.C. Light rain is being reported from much of Vancouver Island and the lower mainland and light snow in the mountain valleys. Somewhat drier air will return on Wednesday and this will break up the clouds sufficiently to allow periods of sunshine around Vancouver and Victoria and mostly sunny but cold weather throughout the interior forest.

North Coast Region — Modest clearing along the mainland coast and cloudy over the water today and Wednesday. Little change in temperature, light northerly winds today and tonight and Wednesday, frequently reaching northeast 30 to 40 mph. Low tonight and high tomorrow at Port Hardy 38 and 48, Sandspit 39 and 40, Prince Rupert 30 and 40.

Housing Start Set For April

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction work on a $1,400,000 housing development at Kitimat will start early in April. N.H. Hulsh Construction Ltd. of West Vancouver announced Monday. One hundred homes designed for the northern B.C. climate, will be constructed.

Wives Choose Spouse's Clothes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In this crazy, mixed-up world, many women not only wear the slacks in the family, but also buy the pants for papa.

That is clear in a study made by the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers.

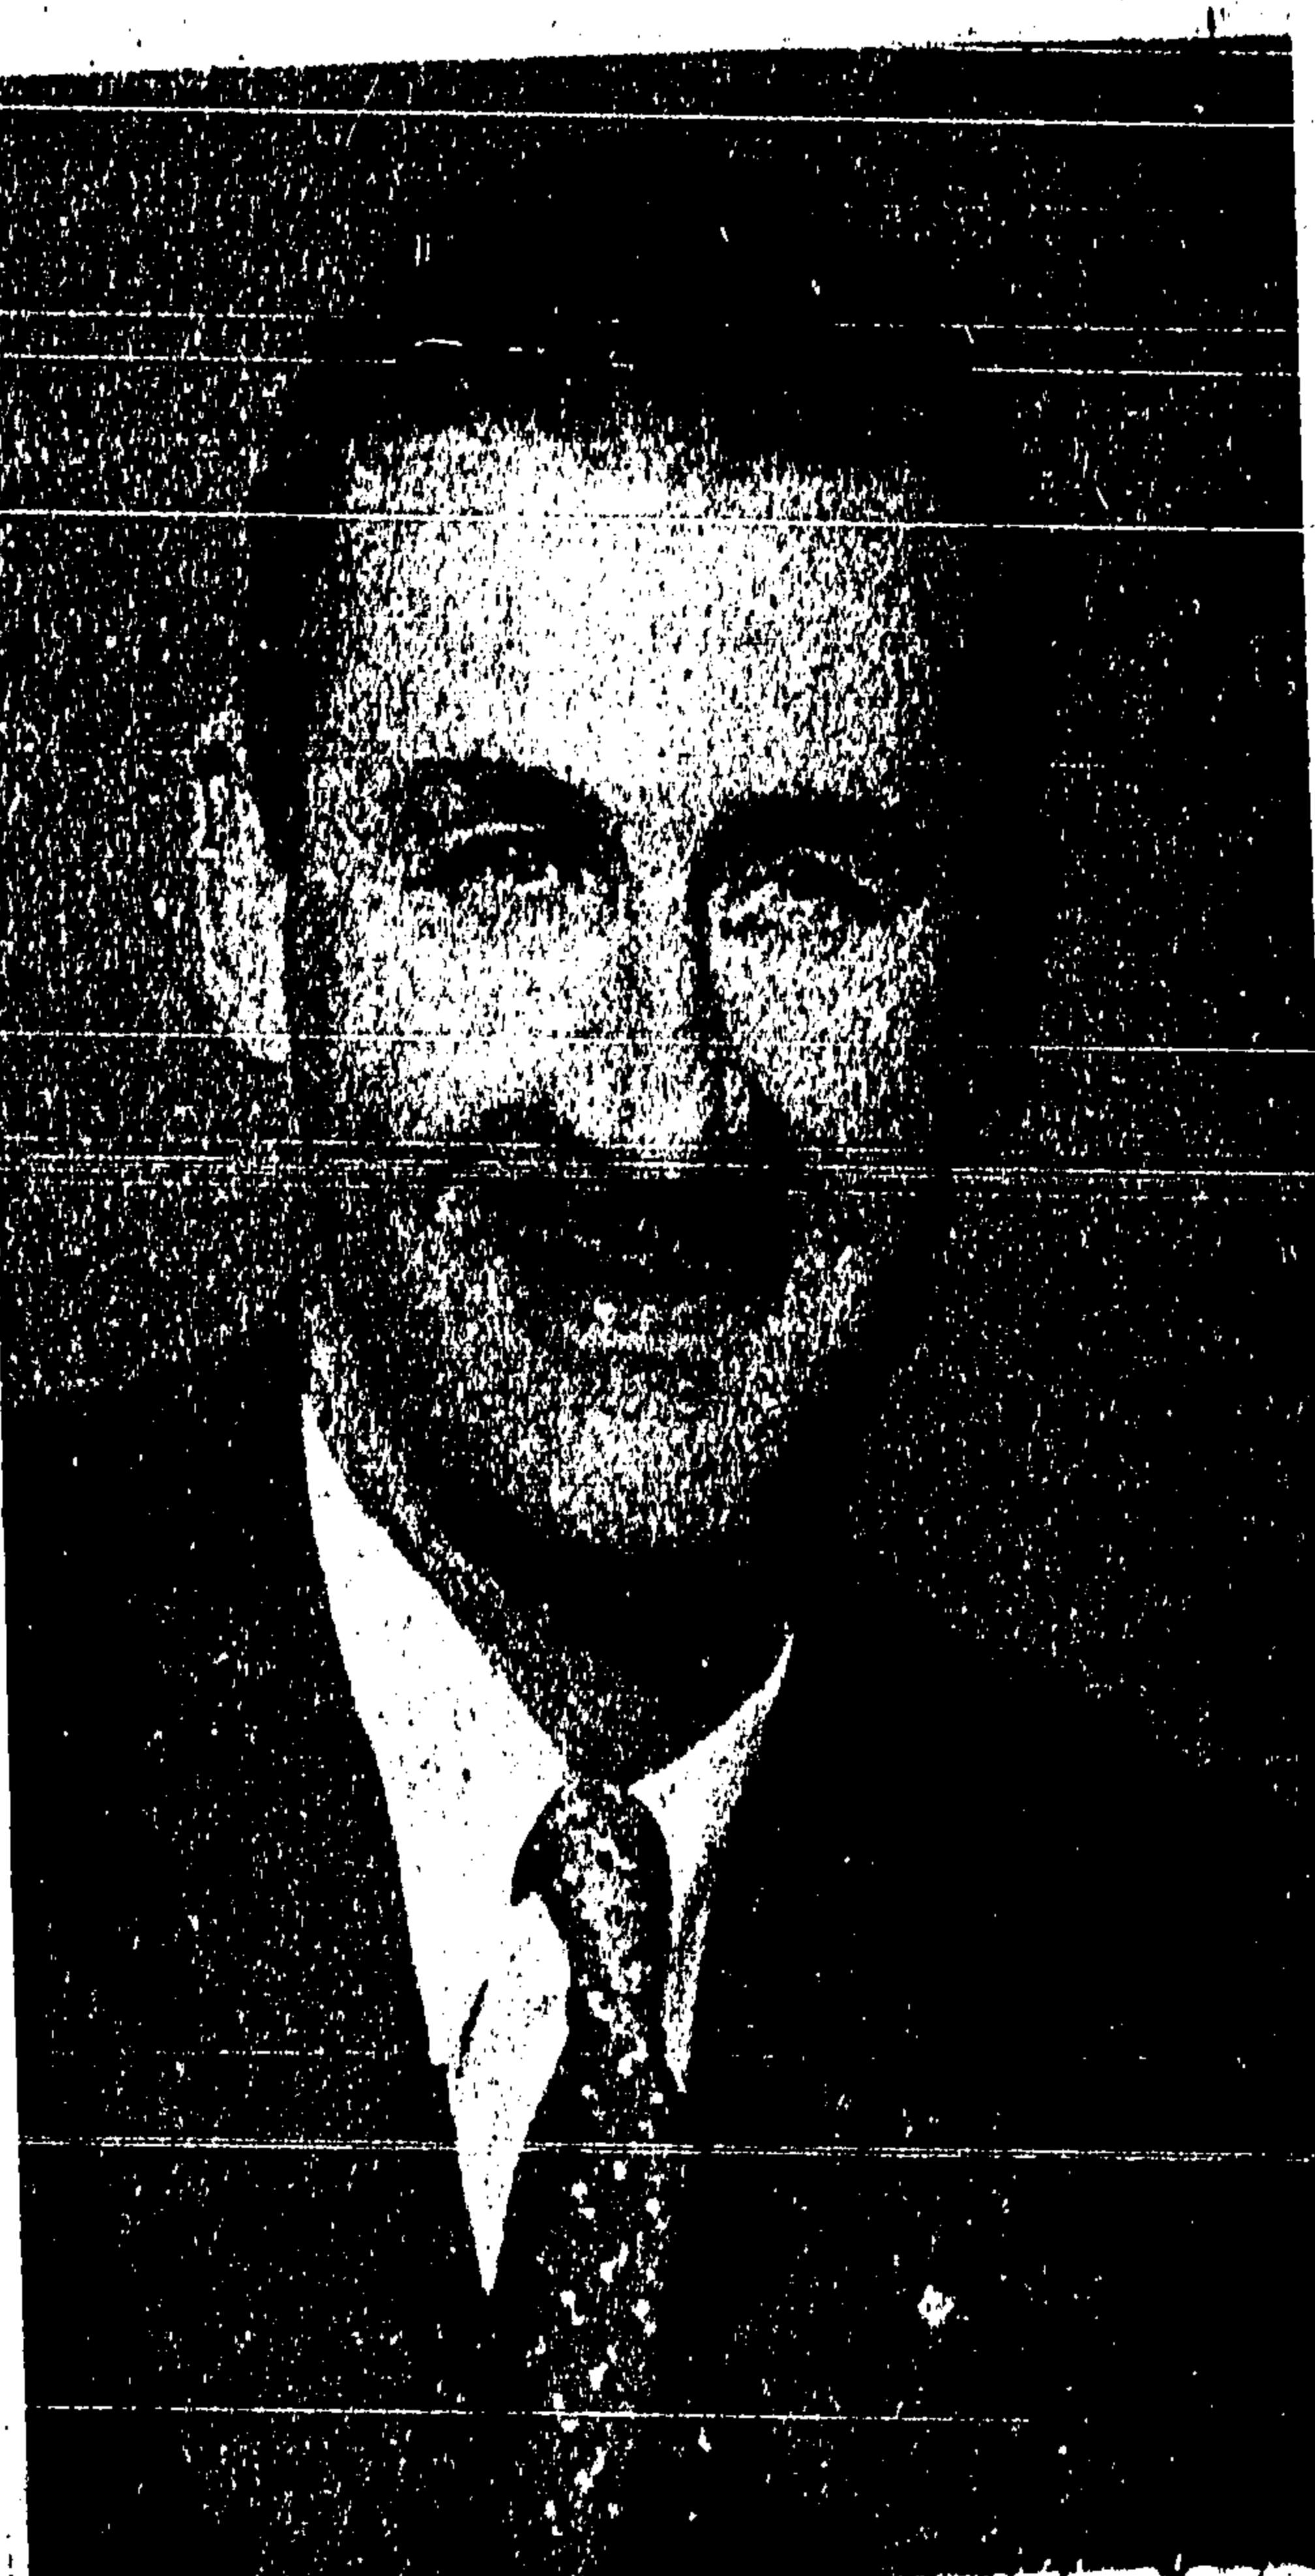

They've been questioning women who shop in all types of stores in which men's wear is sold.

The report shows that women are persistent necktie buyers. Of the women interviewed, 70 per cent admitted their part in buying neckties for their husbands and sons.

Well over half the women said they either bought, or helped buy, his jewelry, his suits, his overcoats, his shirts, his sportswear, his underwear and his socks.

Stewardesses Learn Theory Of Jets For New TCA Planes

TORONTO (UPI) — A bevy of 80 stewardesses are busy studying everything a passenger with a thirst for knowledge might ask about the plane.

LOTS OF GADGETS

But the plane's galley holds the most fascination for them. It has a control panel to push buttons almost as intricate as the pilot's compartment.

The panel, a houseswife's gadget dream, delivers everything from a hot cup of coffee to air conditioning with the flick of a switch.

Galley equipment was designed and manufactured in Canada and flown to Britain, where the Viscount is built, for installation. Twenty-two aircraft are in order for TCA.

So far the stewardesses have no real model for practice. Parts of the plane's equipment have been moved into a hangar classroom at nearby Malton Airport. With the aid of diagrams and photographs they are grasping the workings of their end of the big plane's operation.

The planes will go into service on the Montreal-Toronto-Sault Ste. Marie-Fort William-Winnipeg flight, New York, Chicago, Ottawa and Windsor will be added later.

Canadian Market Drop Follows Selling Wave

By The Canadian Press

Two strong selling waves drove credit restrictions on Wall street speculators. Individual prices in New York fell lower on the average.

The Toronto market started the fifth time in as many sessions. The Toronto exchange, which got off to a brighter start at the opening, followed Wall street to lower ground during an afternoon sell-off.

Although the general break was not as bad as the one two weeks ago after the U.S. Federal Reserve board clamped tighter speculations. Individual prices in New York fell lower on the average.

The Toronto market started the session generally higher in the fastest morning session in almost two years. Heavy profit-taking later hit all sections however, and the market suffered wide losses which brought the industrial index down to 376.85 — less than $1\frac{1}{2}$ points from the low of 375.88 hit during the break of Jan. 6.

Using The Associated Press average as a guide, Monday's Wall street decline erased more than $3,000,000,000 from the total quoted value of securities listed on the New York exchange. The AP average of 60 stocks dropped $3.10 to $149.20. It had dropped $3.40 on Jan. 5 and another $1.60 the following day to hit a low of $149.80. Total volume Monday was 3,360,000.

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (CP)—Work on a planned tunnel through the mountains to link Kashmir and India by an all-weather road is still in dispute, with both India and Pakistan committed to a present. India is going ahead with a $23,000,000 five-year plan for three-quarters of the route which now lies on the Indian side of the cease-fire line. The biggest project in this plan is the Banhal tunnel.

The tunnel will reduce the distance between Kashmir's summer capital at Srinagar and its winter capital at Jammu by 25 miles.

Strike End Optimism On Wane

TORONTO, Ontario (CP)—The Ford of Canada strike entered a record 101st day today, coupled with suggestions that optimism which had marked company-union negotiations appeared to have waned. The contract talks were to continue, however.

After a session Monday night, Emil Maze, international secretary-treasurer of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL), said progress in the talks was not continuing. He did not elaborate.

This conflicted with earlier statements Monday by Mr. Maze and T. J. Emmert, Ford of Canada executive vice-president, that progress was being made.

OLD MARK SURPASSED

The strike involving plants in Windsor, Oakville and Etobicoke, now is the longest in the history of the Canadian automotive industry. It surpasses by two days the 99-day strike of Windsor Ford workers in 1945.

As negotiations continued, two separate groups of company and union representatives from Oakville and the Ford offices in Windsor met in other parts of the Royal York Hotel to try to settle local differences.

Mr. Maze said the Oakville teams had completed preliminary discussion after three days and further meetings were not scheduled.

The Windsor office talks, however, were to continue today. Although the office workers are not on strike, most members of the UAW's office local have been laid off as a result of the walkout in the three production centres. Nearly 9,000 auto workers are out of work in the three plants.

Before the strike began in Windsor Oct. 10, workers voted approved medical and hospital plans and wage increases of four cents at Windsor and Etobicoke and 15 cents at Oakville. Average rates are $1.60 at Windsor and Oakville and $1.50 at Etobicoke.

The company wanted a revised seniority plan, the union opposed it.

Maintain Link Between Your Hand and Dummy's

Mr. Masters was telling Mr. New, the avid kibitzer, something about the ducking play. "When you're playing a hand as declarer," he said, "the main purpose of the ducking play is to maintain a line of communication between your hand and dummy. There are other reasons for the play, but you'd better learn that one first."

Today's hand, played by Mrs. Kren at three no-trump, illustrates Mr. Masters' point.

BAD OPENING

Mr. Champion's opening lead was the five of spades. This was an unfortunate opening for Mrs. Keen as it knocked out the only entry to dummy outside of the diamond suit.

However it offered no serious problem as long as she played the diamonds correctly. If the four diamonds held by the defenders broke 2-2, six tricks could be run in the suit. But the odds were against that distribution.

If the opposing diamonds were divided 3-1 (the most likely distribution), then one trick had to be conceded in the suit before it could be run.

If the diamonds broke as badly as 4-0, Mrs. Keen would have to concede the enemy the first two tricks in the suit and hope this did not give them time to set up a suit of their own.

PULLS TRICK

After winning the first trick with dummy's king of spades, Mrs. Keen made the right play.

pulling the top of diamonds from the board, and Mr. Abel won with the 10 spot. When Mr. Champion followed suit, she knew the diamonds were divided 3-1 at worst and that dummy's long suit was now established.

Mr. Abel returned a spade and the Jack was finesseled. Mr. Champion won with the queen and led a third round of spades. Mrs. Keen won with the ace and realized it was time to run with her game.

Notice that if she had foolishly played the ace and king of diamonds at the second and third tricks, trying to bring in the suit without loss, she would have done well to take more than six tricks on the hand.

Victorian Fur Trapper Has Trapline in Capital

VICTORIA (CP)—Alex Patter-recognizes them immediately. He doesn't brave the Arctic cold, knows a type of bullrush that discolors their pelts unless they are skinned at once.

In one month of Patterson's thriving trap-line has taken 300 eagle pounce on one of his traps, muskrat and five mink, most of them within seeing-distance of taken in B.C., the eagle had a 55-inch wingspread and was presented to the provincial museum here.

Patterson must know the routes of his intended victims. His traps have no bait.

Otter bring up to $10 a pelt in Vancouver, mink is worth $12 to $30, raccoon might bring $1.25, and the muskrat is worth $1.25.

It is quantity that counts and mother nature co-operates. The mink, for example, multiply 15 times in a single year.

LONDON, England (CP)—Police broke up a demonstration here to day, protesting Australia's recent Communist spy trials. Eighteen persons were arrested.
