COLLEEN MOORE in

"THE PERFECT FLAPPER"

All the world loves a flapper. She's the sunshine of life. People say flappers are silly, but that's all wrong. You'll just love this one. Come, laugh and dance with her. She'll show you how to forget your troubles; you'll be happier for knowing her. Pretty little Colleen is at her very best in this sunshine photo-play, full of happiness, and a riot of thrills. A picture for flappers from six to sixty and their beaux. Grand masked ball scenes, stunning costumes, elaborate gowns, ornate settings, pretty girls, delightful acting. Specially selected supporting cast includes Sydney Chaplin, Frank Mayo, Charles Wellesley, Phyllis Haver and Lydia Knott.

DISCUSS APPLICATION TEACHERS' ALLOWANCE FOR SUMMER SCHOOLS

At the meeting of the school board last night applications were received from Misses Elonda Marsh and Agnes Donaldson who attended the Bellingham state normal school summer course during the holidays for the $50 allowance made by the board in such cases as provided in the schedule of teachers' salaries.

Application was also made by Misses B. MacDonald, S. A. Mills, B. R. Scott and E. A. Mercer for similar treatment for having attended the summer course at Victoria in the summer of 1923 and which had not been paid.

In answer to inquiries, J. C. Brady explained that the purpose of the summer schools was to enable the teachers to keep in touch with the trend of modern education and improve themselves in their profession. It encouraged teachers to get training in special branches. The donation was to pay the cost of travelling to and from the school.

Trustee Rochester suggested that good salaries were paid here, sufficient to cover these things. He moved that the letters lie on the table. He was not opposing the payment of the money but wanted to know more about it.

Alderman Casey did not altogether agree with the principle of paying for this. Teaching was a profession and the teachers should keep up with the work or go out.

S. E. Parker said in fairness to the teachers they could not do other than pay the sum which had been earned according to the schedule.

The resolution to lay on the table was then agreed to and the applications will come up at the next meeting.

AUSTRALIAN SAPPHIRES MARKETED IN BRITAIN

Fine Stones Being Mined in Queensland and Sold Through the Government

LONDON, Oct. 10. — Large quantities of Queensland sapphires from the newly discovered mines of Queensland are being offered on the London market. The stones, which are extraordinarily large and clear, are the first to be mined in the new district under government operation, and are being sold by the government representatives in London, also an innovation.

The sapphire marketing by the government is the first attempt of the Australian provincial governments to carry out the scheme for wider government operation of resources and marketing of products. Before the war the sapphire industry in Australia was largely in the hands of Germans, whose representatives bought on the fields and sent their purchases direct to factories in Germany. As a result of post-war legislation which keeps foreigners, especially Germans, out of Australia, the Queensland government took control of the industry.

U.S. CONSUL SPEAKER AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Tells of His Recent Trip to the East in an Intimate Narrative

An interesting running story of the trip through different parts of the United States was given yesterday afternoon by Consul Wakefield at the regular weekly luncheon in the St. Regis Cafe, Dr. W. T. Kergin presiding, who told of numerous little human interest incidents that proved extremely entertaining.

The first stop the Consul made was at Jasper Park where he found a great improvement over what was there at the time of his previous visit. To his mind, he said, the park was one of the most favorable spots he had visited from a vacation point of view. He knew of nothing finer except the grand canyon of the Colorado and the places were so different they could not be compared.

Mr. Wakefield found himself interested in many things. He enjoyed the radio on the train, took a keen interest in the Indians at the Hudson Bay post at Sault Outlook and got to Maine in time to vote and to interest himself in the political condition he found there.

At Washington he met people who were interested in Prince Rupert business and discussed these matters with them. Almost everywhere he found business conditions good. There was no longer any Red menace. In Vancouver complaint was made to him that Prince Rupert wanted everything. On the steamers the serious complaint was made that the big vessels had been taken off the Stewart and Anyox run. He knew nothing about the reason for this but complaints in connection with it were very general.

COMPLAINTS OF CAROUSALS AT COW BAY JOINT

City Solicitor Asked to Take up Matter With Government

The police commission at its regular monthly session yesterday afternoon spent the most of the time discussing the situation at Cow Bay where it was stated several undesirable persons were now residing. Commissioner Montgomery insisted on some action being taken at once. Some of the people in business in that vicinity had expressed the fear that fire might be started as a result of carousals. It was even said that one night there had been firearms discharged.

City Solicitor Jones said that he was taking steps in this direction but Commissioner Montgomery did not seem to be satisfied. He was in favor of any line of action that would cause the people in question to move. Some action, he thought, could be obtained through the provincial government on whose leased land the people complained of were living.

Mayor Newton said he had taken two officers to the scene on one occasion but all had been quiet when they arrived. Commissioner Montgomery thought it was strange that whenever officers appeared on the scene things quietened down. To this, Mayor Newton replied that he had taken particular pains that no one should be tipped off.

The outcome of the discussion was the passing of a resolution, moved by Commissioner Montgomery and seconded by Commissioner Cameron, authorizing the city solicitor to take the matter up with the provincial government with a view to cleaning up the undesirable premises.

POLICE REPORT

Chief Vickers Tells of Activities of Department During Month: 34 Convictions

There were 48 cases in the city police court during the month of September resulting in 34 convictions, 11 dismissals and 3 withdrawals according to the report of the chief of police submitted to the police commission yesterday afternoon. Fine collections for the month totalled $668.25 and the expenditure of the department was $214 in accounts and the payroll of $933.

The report stated that questionable houses in the down town section had been raided with warrants under the Government Liquor Act but all liquor was found to bear the government seals. The department was still striving to keep undesirable persons downtown on the move, Chief Vickers said in reply to a question by Mayor Newton.

City Solicitor Jones reported that he was appealing two cases that had been dismissed—one a charge of selling liquor to Indians and the other a charge against a Japanese of gambling. This course was approved by the commission which authorized the city solicitor and chief of police to appeal any cases where they considered the evidence warranted it.

The case against Alex Roy of failing to support his family was discussed and the action of the chief in having Roy brought back to the city was approved.
