Some Questions For Sir Henry Thornton.

Sir Henry Thornton is coming to see us again. That is good news and we will be happy to welcome him—as we would any distinguished gentleman.

The last time Sir Henry was here he inspired our hopes as to developments at Prince Rupert and left the impression that, if he had anything to do about it, this port was to have some considerable development in the immediate future. He said that he would put forth efforts at once to have two tourist boats built for the Alaska service and a hotel erected here.

What he said then was about the last we heard of these things and, to say the least about it, we are rather curious now to know what happened. That will be one of the things that it will be in order for Sir Henry to tell us about when he comes again next month. We will want him to say if we really are going to get these things and if not, why not. If he tells us "Nay" and gives us a satisfactory explanation he should not make any bad friends. There is danger, however, of him doing so if he does lead us to expect something of which there is little chance of materialization. Straight talk is what we want and, in the long run, it will not hurt us.

Everybody Likes Praise.

Nobody has ever explained satisfactorily why every human is susceptible to the laudatory recognition of his or her work. Praise has no material value yet "how we love it." There is probably nothing that inspires us to better work than commendation of our ability and efforts.

Did you ever see a restaurateur and his chef gleaming at the diners heartily devouring a good meal? The approval of their food gives the restaurateur and the cook more satisfaction than the money they receive for their labors. Eat as though you like the food and your host enjoys the meal better than you possibly could.

Observe your bootblack some morning. Have you noticed how he makes the shine cloth snap and sing? How he rubs and rubs until he can see his own shiny nose mirrored on the toe of your shoe? He isn't working only for that nicker tip. He wants your stamp of approval on his ability as a shiner-of-shoes. Watch him gleam and sparkle when you remark "That's some shine."

Your home town merchants depend for a living upon pleasing you but it is not only because of business reasons that they smile broadly when you tell them about the tasty cakes, the durable shoes, the lovely dress, the excellent suit or whatnot you purchased from them. Try it once and see if they won't try to please you even better with your next purchase. They are not unlike stage-folk who can't "do their stuff" without applause. It seems foolish but it is extremely human.

Even the unemotional newspaperman is to be inspired by a word of praise though kicks are more common with him than pats on the back, even when he is doing his sincere best. Like everybody else, a newspaperman is to be won more by recognizing his good work than by seeking to condemn him for his faults.

But while you are passing round your praises and encomiums don't overlook those at home. It will help the children to do better work in school and to be more obedient at home, if you will make the housework less a drudgery for the women folks and a little praise now and then makes the serious business of making a comfortable living for the wife and children a little easier and more pleasurable for the man of the house.

Rise of Mining Barometer at Alice Arm Predicted; Mines in Operation are Described

(By George Clothier, Resident Engineer)

The Kitsault River section takes in all the Kitsault valley and tributary valleys, from tide-water at the town of Alice Arm to the head of the river, about 26 miles in length and 4 miles in width.

The mining situation, which has been most discouraging for the past two or three years, due mainly to the non-operation of the Dolly Varden, shows some signs of improving. The Esperanza mine has been making small shipments all year. The Consolidated Homestake Mining and Development Company secured a bond on the Toric group and from late reports the work done is proving very encouraging.

The Kitsault River Mining and Development Company, Limited, has recently been incorporated to develop some claims up the Kitsault. The Granby Consolidated has bonded the Standard group on McGrath mountain and the Silver Band group, also on McGrath mountain, has been optioned. All indications are that the mining barometer has a tendency to rise.

The Dolly Varden Railway has been kept in repair for the use of hand-cars and speeders, which is indispensable to the prospectors up the valley.

About the same amount of prospecting and development work is done each year by the resident prospectors, in preparation for the time when the inaction will be removed and the country will get its merited attention.

Esperanza Mine

The Esperanza property, consisting of three claims situated on the west side of the Kitsault, about a mile from the town of Alice Arm, is owned by Mr. Fraser, in charge at the mine, and six associates at Anyox. It has been a very consistent small shipper for a number of years, though it has never had any plant of any kind on it and never a very large crew. It has probably shipped $100,000 worth of ore altogether. This year the production amounted to 232 tons of ore, yielding 28 oz. gold, 47,501 oz. silver, and a few hundred pounds of lead—a very creditable output. Experiments were made in shipping second-grade ore to Granby.

I made an examination of the property late last year and had all the ore dumps sampled. The object of this was to ascertain whether the average ore in the mine would make a profitable milling-ore. Heretofore the vein has all been mined and the high grade sorted out for shipment, the second grade going to the dumps. From my sampling I found that the entire vein in the present working tunnel, averaging 40 inches in width, would average $12 silver a ton with silver at 67 cents an ounce, which I estimate will yield a profit of at least $4 a ton after the property is equipped with compressor, small concentrator, etc. There are two ore-shoots in this tunnel, aggregating about 80 feet in length, that will average about $25 a ton for a width of 33 inches. These ore-bodies would yield a good profit to mine and mill. The remainder of the ore would not pay to mine and mill, but would pay to mill after being milled to get the high grade.

The dumps will average about 16 oz. silver to the ton as nearly as they could be sampled. These would yield a good profit if concentrated. My conclusion was that a small capacity mill is a necessity and warranted by the present ore on the dumps and in the mine.

Samples of scheelite were picked from the dump and tested, my sample assaying 20 per cent. tungstic acid. This could not be profitably brought up to a marketable grade by hand sorting, but in the event of a mill being erected on the property might make a very profitable by-product.

The property has not by any means been exhausted so far as development is concerned, and altogether presents an undertaking with very probable chances of success.

Toric Group

The Toric Group consists of four mineral claims—Toric, Anglo, Moose, and Lamb—situated on the east side of the Kitsault river, opposite the Dolly Varden and North Star properties. The property was staked and is still owned by the Strombeck Bros., of Alice Arm. In August of last year it was bonded by the Consolidated Homestake Mining and Development Company, Limited, which, under the management of A. C. Gerhardt, had been developing for the past two seasons the Homestake group of mineral claims at the head of the Kitsault river.

When I was on the Toric in the latter part of August a frame bunk-house had been completed; a tunnel-site cleared, faced up, and the collar sets in; and a compressor was on the ground being erected. Since that time a very creditable amount of work has been done. The tunnel was driven a considerable distance through slide rock, necessitating careful timbering, and was therefore slow work. At 223 feet from the collar the foot-wall of the vein was encountered and a crosscut of 58 feet continued in it without reaching the hanging wall. Mr. Gerhardt states that the first 8 feet averages 44 oz. silver and that the whole is milling grade ore. Chunks of ore from the first 8 feet were brought down, showing native and ruby silver and argenteite, indicating similar conditions to those on the surface, 200 feet above the dip on the vein.

Later work consists of drifting from the tunnel on the foot wall of the vein to the west, a distance of 90 feet, and at 50 feet crosscutting into the vein for 20 feet. At the time of writing this report the ore-body has been proved to be as good if not better than where first encountered.

From present indications this development looks like a very important strike and one that may have a far reaching effect on the whole section. Mr. Gerhardt is to be recommended for his energy in pushing this work through under difficult conditions, which unfortunately are not always appreciated by the man behind the money. The further development of this property will be of great interest.

THOMAS MEIGHAN IS HERE TONIGHT

Popular Star is Said to be at his Best in "Tongues of Flame."

Bessie Love and Eileen Percy share feminine honors in support of Thomas Meighan in his newest picture, "Tongues of Flame," coming to the Westholme Theatre tonight and tomorrow. The story is an adaptation of the last novel by Peter Clark Macfarlane. Both girls are in love with Tom in the picture, Miss Love as Lohel, a little half-breed Indian girl, Miss Percy playing Billie Boland, daughter of a wealthy manufacturer.

In the picture Meighan has the role of a returned doughboy who takes up the practice of law in a small town. After Chateau Thierry and the Argonne, Tom, as "Hell Fire" Harrington, can't seem to get excited over the petty lawsuits of the little town of Edgewater.

Then matters take a sudden turn. A pretty little Indian girl school teacher (Bessie Love) comes to him with the news that the Indians need his aid. The money men of the town are making inroads upon the Indian reservation and the red men suspect something underhand. The picture goes on to show how Meighan, first in the employ of the capitalist, then as the Indians' friend straightens the matter out.

"Tongues of Flame" is Meighan at his best it is said.

NOW that the June wedding present season is over, we can look forward to the Christmas present season.

OF course you've heard the story about the newly arrived Englishman who took a job as a faller in the bush and chopped all around the tree.
