NAAS RIVER FATALITIES

THREE CHILDREN LOSE LIVES FROM GASOLINE EXPLOSION—ONE MAN IS DROWNED

Word is received in the city of fatal accidents from fire and drowning in the vicinity of Aiyansh on the Naas River.

About two weeks ago at the house of Charles Morvens a half-breed boy, Perry Currie, attempted to light a fire with gasoline. The fluid exploded and young Currie, as well as two other small children, were fatally burned, dying at Kincolith where they had been taken for medical attention. Their funeral was conducted by Rev. Mr. Cooper of Greenville.

Another fatal accident took place at the Schoomal, some three miles below Aiyansh on the river. A canoe, containing three Indians, capsized and one of them, Stephen Occidan, a native of Kincolith, was drowned. This makes a total of four fatalities that have taken place at this particular point. The people of the Naas River feel that something should be done to improve conditions there.

Motorship Norco, which tore her bottom out and sank in Ketchikan Harbor on Sunday, is a well known vessel in northern waters. Originally built in the United States she was operated for some time by the Grand Trunk Pacific Coast Steamship Co. in a service between here and Alaska. She was later tied up in Vancouver and a couple of years ago acquired by the Northern Transportation Co. of Ketchikan and used in freighting, particularly carrying fish, between Vancouver, Seattle and Ketchikan. The motorship Bellingham, which is engaged in fish carrying from Ketchikan to this port, is owned by the same company.

SUZANNE HAS NO IDEAL OF MAN

Will Give up Tennis and Marry in About Three Years

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—(By Canadian Press).—Suzanne Lenglen, arriving with six trunks of clothes, told an interviewer that she thought "only women with shapely legs should wear short skirts." Many of her coats were trimmed with beaver. "You see I am very fond of your national emblem," she said.

The tennis star is very fond of dancing, and is as graceful in the ballroom as on the tennis court. She abominates the Charleston, she declares, though her attitude has been moderated since she crossed the Atlantic. "I have seen young people dance it quite attractively since I came to America, but the way they dance it in France is atrocious, so ungainly and ugly! But I love the tango!"

She announced that she intended to give up tennis in about three years' time. "What will you do, then?" she was asked. "Oh, I shall marry and have a family," she said, laughing.

To "what is your ideal of a man?" she replied, "I don't think it is wise to have one. You know what happens—perhaps you decide that your ideal is tall and dark—and then you get a little fat blonde one"—she indicated a barrel-like figure with her expressive hands.

"Applications have already run into seven figures," commented her manager. Suzanne laughed, but did not say whether she was contemplating any matrimonial offer.
