KEEP YOUR EYE ON CHARLOTTE

Keep your eye on Queen Charlotte Islands. They are worth watching and pretty soon will be much more in the public eye than they are today. At present there is the handicap of small population, but that is the same handicap from which Prince Rupert suffers.

The Queen Charlottes happen to be in the mineralized zone and have some very likely looking prospects. They undoubtedly have natural gas and probably oil. The Sitka spruce found there is the best in the world and the fisheries are worthy of attention.

Possibly it is as a summer resort and a hunting park that the islands are likely to figure first. There is abundance of game there, including pheasants, deer, ducks and geese and black bear. Salmon trolling is excellent.

Very soon there will be at Tlell a fine golf course which will attract people from far and near. Swans are wintering on the island, attesting to the mildness of the climate. By all means watch the development of the Queen Charlottes. Very soon we shall have to turn our eyes that way whether we will or not.

ECONOMIC UNION

Premier Bennett declares for an economic union of the British Empire and his attitude has been strengthened by the recent action of the Mother country in giving special preferences to the Dominions and colonies. The time seems opportune for a trial of something different from what we have had.

Statesmen have in the past feared anything closer than a loose political union but that has been partly because of the attitude of Britain in being opposed to any plan which would mean taxing themselves for the benefit of the Dominions. With the change in the British Isles Mr. Bennett is right in line with modern Canadian thought when he makes his proposal.

Here is Nelle Rezac, captain of the University of Kansas girls' rifle team, whose ability to blot out the bullseye is known throughout the west. Miss Rezac is leading her team in twenty-four matches.
