Argument of Counsel

The Prudhomme appeal, L. W. Patmore said in opening argument March 13 and 27—ss. P. John a.m. for the city, was based first on There were 38 passengers aboard including the rollicking officer's p.m. that across the street, he believed, aboard the vessel. disposed of the first claim.

As for the second claim, Mr. ture, fixing values not on the basis of the height of a boom or the depths of a depression but on a normal footing between. He considered there had been no speculative boom since before the war and that the period between 1925 and 1930 might be considered as normal times when normal pur-..10:20 p.m. Patmore) did not see where an expert valuator from Vancouver was 12:30 p.m particularly qualified to set values 9:30 p.m. in Prince Rupert. He would rather 9:30 p.m. take values accepted by Mr. Prudp.m. homme himself as indicated by values he had allowed to stand 4 p.m when he was on the court of re-10 a.m | vision and when he had tried to Friday 4 p.m. sell out. He did not think Mr. Prud-...... a.m. homme was altogether frank when he put a value of $400 or $500 on the Savoy Hotel lots. In fact he thought that was "just nonsense." Nor had Mr. Arnold put the earnings of the Smith Block on Third Avenue in the best light although he had later admitted it was earning six and a half percent on the assessed value.

It was reasonable, Mr. Patmore felt, to anticipate there might be good times again. It was fallacious to value land at the price it would bring on the open market at any particular time. He urged His Lord-17C ship not to disturb the whole city assessment by reducing the valua-13C tion of this property and making necessary an entire re-assessment. "I shouldn't consider that would necessarily follow," observed the 23c judge. "Anyway, I am interested in the equitability, not in the results." Mr. Brown In his argument, T. W. Brown, 110 counsel for the appellant, observed that tax collections had slipped Actual sales, Mr. Brown submitted, should be taken into consideration in the fixing of assessed values. The whole structure of assessed valuations, Mr. Brown contended. was based on the fallacy that all the property would earn returns on the assessment valuations if built upon. This was obviously impossible since the earning of returns by any property today was predicated on other property being vacant. He (Mr. Brown) suggested that Mr. | Alder had developed a "municipal," mind" which gave exaggerated values to property for taxation; purposes.
