VANCOUVER INTERESTED IN A STRANGE CASE

Circumstances of Trial of a German Named Betschowo Seem to Suggest Conspiracy

Vancouver is interested in present in a peculiar case of alleged conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice, in which figures prominently a German named Betschowo. Particulars of the case as gathered from the Vancouver World, the newspaper responsible for the attraction of public interest to the matter are as follows:

(1) That one Betschowo, a German unable to make himself understood in English, charged a man named Hoffman, with running off with his wife and goods.

(2) That the day before the case was to be heard in court, Betschowo was arrested on a charge of vagrancy, and that although he had seventy dollars in his possession he was detained for three days.

(3) That meanwhile the case came on in the provincial court house where Betschowo was not represented, first, because he himself was in the city jail and, second, because his legal representatives were told the case would be heard at three o'clock, whereas it was called at two.

(4) That the magistrate was informed that Betschowo was in a lunatic asylum.

(5) That in consequence the accused Hoffman was allowed to go, the case being dismissed.

A number of German residents in Vancouver are determined to pursue the enquiry into the Betschowo case to a finish. Several gentlemen waited on Mr. J. W. de B. Farris the other morning. Mr. Farris consented to appear before the mayor or to represent Betschowo at the enquiry and also in any further proceedings.

At the Theatre

In "Facing the Music" the May Roberts Company Made Good Again — Tonight "Captain Swift," a Splendid Play.

With success of the most certain the May Roberts Company opened once again at the Empress Theatre last night. Prince Rupert has come to expect first rate work from the May Roberts Company, and last night's performance of "Facing the Music" exceeded expectations. The play was capitally staged under direction of Mr. Victor Gillard, and it proved immensely amusing. As the much harassed John Smith, Mr. Harry Cornell upheld an exacting part to perfection. Miss May Roberts as the curate's wife acted perfectly. Miss Ethel Corley as the other Mrs. Smith was also good. Mr. Ira Robertson, appearing first as a most inimitable messenger boy, in which role he afterward contributed a specialty, "The Mysterious Rag," with terrific success, was capital also in his part of Col. Duncan Smith. All other members of the company, too, fulfilled their parts capably and thoroughly pleased. The May Roberts Company is beyond doubt the best Prince Rupert has seen; and this evening's performance of "Captain Swift," the play written for Mr. Beerbohm Tree, will be an excellent entertainment. Mr. Gillard last night announced that the company will have to leave early next week to fulfil bookings in the north, so those who desire to see above the average stage craft in excellent plays should not fail to book for the May Roberts visit.
